TO COST ATLANTA
$87,500 IN CASH

Mayor Woodward Will Notify Representatives of the Company on Monday of Acceptance of Settlement.

$32,500 SAVED CITY
BY THIS AGREEMENT

Manager Underhill Said Recently Fire Alarm System Here Cannot Be Duplicated Now for $150,000.

Final settlement of the dispute between Mayor James G. Woodward and the Okemite company of New York, over the fire alarm contract will be reached Monday, when the mayor will notify the company of his acceptance of the proposal that the city pay $87,500 for the system.

Negotiations were practically ended Saturday, following a conference between Mayor Woodward and Councilman W. O. Humphrey, representing the city, and President Canale and Manager Underhill, representing the Okemite company.

Under the agreement, the city will pay $87,500 for the system, which will be provided for $125,000. The balance will be provided for $37,500. The balance will be provided for $37,500.

Under the original contract made by the city before Mayor Woodward entered office, the Okemite company was to receive $100,000.

The payments were to be made in deferred installments of $5,000 a year. The interest on the $100,000 loan would amount to more than $15,000 before the obligation could be discharged.

The saving for the city, by the new agreement, is $32,500. The new system is estimated to cost $150,000.

By paying $87,500 for the fire alarm system, Mayor Woodward put the city in a position to save $15,000 in interest, or a total saving to the city of $102,500.

Mayor Woodward admitted Saturday afternoon that an agreement had been reached with the Okemite company, but declined to say what the terms of the settlement would be.

But he said that the city would be saved $32,500. The balance will be provided for $37,500.

FOUND AT LAST

Young Woman Claims That She Has Been Living for Two Years in Los Angeles as Ella Evans.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—A young woman who has been living here for more than two years under the name of Ella Evans, declared today that she really was Dorothy Arnold, who disappeared from New York city and then went to Los Angeles, where she was found by newspaper reporters today.

The young woman, who was quoted as having asserted she was the New York society girl who disappeared from New York city and then went to Los Angeles, where she was found by newspaper reporters today.

She told of having been a patient at a hospital in this city for a time and having paid a visit to a woman friend in San Diego. Later, she declared, she was killed by a horse with the result that she became an invalid. For some time she had occupied a cottage at 130 South Avenue 51st, where she was found by newspaper reporters today.

Two neighbors, a Mrs. Cross, owner of the cottage rented by the young woman, and a Mrs. Wilson, said she told them that her mother was in Europe. She named Dorothy Wiggins, Katherine Porco, and a Mr. Johnson as members of a party with whom she named New York's night life, 1914, at the Hotel Knickerbocker.

At times, however, she seemed to be confused by the fact that she had been in the city for a long time, and she seemed to be confused by the fact that she had been in the city for a long time.

She spoke with familiarity of the Arnold, but displayed little interest in the fact that her mother was in Europe. She named Dorothy Wiggins, Katherine Porco, and a Mr. Johnson as members of a party with whom she named New York's night life, 1914, at the Hotel Knickerbocker.

ASSERTS MARSHALL
ON 60TH BIRTHDAY

Washington, March 14.—Vice President Marshall celebrated his sixtieth birthday at Hot Springs, Va., today. To numerous officials and diplomats who complimented him upon his youthful appearance last night the vice president said: "I keep young by not thinking about the years. I want to live to be in my second childhood. This is a good old world to live in."

The celebration really began last night when the Marshalls were presented with a huge birthday cake decorated with the shield of the United States, the vice president's name and the date of his sixtieth birthday. On account of Mr. Marshall's youthful appearance only six candles adorned the top of the cake. The cake formed the central setting of the Marshall birthday dinner tonight at Hot Springs.

Neighbors, hearing the disturbance, rushed to the White place only to find the husband dead and the wife in a dying condition. Physicians say she has but a slim chance for recovery.

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—Crowds packed the street before the justice court where Vick Guerin, Oscar Harrison, Leo V. Brennan and Bert Kinslow charged with attacking Mrs. Gertrude Shuler last Monday, were arraigned today.

When the men were taken from the courtroom through a rear door some of them shouted: "Get a rope! Lynch them!" Thirty policemen struggled to protect the prisoners, who were returned safely to jail. Each was bound over without bail for trial in the criminal court.

When the women of the Wesley Memorial hospital camped here Saturday night at the Winifred hotel, it was ascertained that $100 was yet lacking of the $15,000 they were to raise before March 15. They went from the noon meeting with all reports of the money raised. "We must succeed," they said.

Saturday night the twelve committees held a meeting at the Wesley Memorial hospital and the amount will reach $12,000.

The $12,000 had been raised but much more was needed. "We must succeed," they said. "We must succeed," they said.

Mount Airy Woman Kills Husband After Being Attacked With a Hatchet. Thought to Be Dying.

Mount Airy, Ga., March 14.—(Special.)—Will Wells, a notorious local character, is dead and his wife is near death as the result of a quarrel between the two Friday afternoon at their home six miles south of here.

Neighbors, hearing the disturbance, rushed to the White place only to find the husband dead and the wife in a dying condition. Physicians say she has but a slim chance for recovery.

1,000 PERSONS DIE
WHEN TIDAL WAVE
HELMS IN LAGES

Driven by a Great Hurricane, Gigantic Wave From Sea of Azov Rolls Over Two Russ Towns.

SWEEP AWAY BY WAVE

Dam Collapses and Greater Part of Historic Town Is Flooded—Almost Entire Province Submerged.

Katerinodar, Russia, March 14.—More than 1,000 persons perished today as the foundation of the town of Statitsa and Achtyrskaja by a tidal wave from the Sea of Azov. The wave struck the towns during a violent hurricane, which swept the province of Kuban, where more than 100 persons also were drowned in floods in Yassenskaja.

A dam collapsed in the town of Temryuk on the Taman peninsula, 98 miles northwest of this city, flooding the greater part of the city and drowning many persons.

The sea washed away 380 buildings in Achtyrskaja.

Statitsa is a historic town with a population of 14,800. It once was the seat of the Turkish fortress Azas.

The towns of Statitsa, Achtyrskaja and Yassenskaja do not appear on any available maps and probably are small places bordering on the sea of Azov. The province of Kuban, in which the stricken towns are located, is in southern Russia and has a coast of 200 miles. The province is a fertile one, with a population of 2,000,000. The country is extremely fertile, and grain is cultivated extensively. Cattle breeding also is conducted on a large scale.

According to neighbors of the couple, they engaged in a violent quarrel, ending in blows, in which the wife was getting the best of it. At Wells' entreaty, however, she quit and went about her household duties. It is said that Wells later slipped up behind his wife's back, beating her over the head with a hatchet. She escaped from him and secured a poker, with which she attacked him. Wells reeled into the yard and dropped dead.

Neighbors, hearing the disturbance, rushed to the White place only to find the husband dead and the wife in a dying condition. Physicians say she has but a slim chance for recovery.

Rebel Leader's Note to Secretary Bryan So Important It Is Given at Once to Diplomats in Washington.

HOPED THAT CARRANZA

And-Along American Consuls to Act for Other Powers—Alleged Note Is Bid for World Recognition.

Washington, March 14.—The declaration of General Carranza, outlining his policy as to the rights of American consuls in northern Mexico to act for citizens of other powers, was transmitted promptly to the various powers today by diplomatic representatives in Washington. Copies of the statement telegraphed to Secretary Bryan by American Consul Simplicio, at Nogales, were supplied to diplomats here today and considered of such importance that there was no delay in submitting them to the governments as a basis for specific instructions.

Embassy and legation officials commented on the Carranza note only in general terms. One fact is accepted, however, that the United States cannot continue to act for them in defiance of Carranza's refusal to listen to representations on the old basis. They feel that there is no warrant for allowing United States consuls to accept credentials also from foreign governments, as seems to be required by Carranza, even if the various governments were willing to bestow such powers.

General Carranza has cut himself out from communicating by starting on horseback with his staff across the mountains of Chihuahua for the capital of this state. It will be nearly two weeks before he can be reached by mail. The note was sent by a messenger department that no change in the status of foreigners in northern Mexico will be made.

Prisoner in Tower Asks Public
For Answers to These Questions

By LEO FRANK.

I have answered a number of questions put to me in reference to various points in my case. I now wish, in turn, to put the following questions to be answered by the public, all of which are based upon undisputed facts, admitted by the prosecution to be the truth:

(1) If, as the prosecution contends, a man had strangled a young girl to death in ten minutes past 12, it is likely that when the murder was discovered, he would come forward, without hesitation, freely and voluntarily, and state that he had seen and talked with her a few moments previous, when there was no witness to the conversation, and there was probably no way for it to be known until he revealed it himself.

(2) When the police discovered and first examined Mary Phagan's body, dirt and cinders were so ground into her face that they could not tell whether she was a white girl or a negro. They had to lift her dress and examine her skin to decide, Sergeant Dobbs described her face as having been "punctured" by the cinders.

There were no cinders in the metal room, but there was a big bank of them in the basement. Conley said her body was carried every step of the way from the metal room, where he says he picked her up, to the point in the basement where he finally deposited her.

Question: How did the dirt and cinders get ground into her face, arms, and hands?

No blood was found on the floor of the metal room at the point where Conley says he found Mary Phagan lying on her back. Wounds bled most freely when they are fresh, and blood flows most freely when it is thin and warm. There was a deep cut in the back of her head. He says the alleged "blood spot" by the dressing room was made when he dropped her.

Question: Why was there no blood on the floor where he first found her?

(4) If a white man had committed a horrible crime, and confided his secret to the keeping of an ignorant negro, it is likely that he would then disappoint and anger the negro by giving him $500 in cash and then taking it away from him.

(5) Conley made successive false affidavits and explained their successive contradictions by saying that he did not want to "give me away entirely, all at once."

Question: If Conley's statement that I dictated the notes to him on Friday had been the truth, did it not "give me away" right then, and demonstrate my guilt of the murder as completely as all the subsequent statements?

(6) Is it right for the law to condemn a man to death when the judge who tried him states that he is not satisfied of his guilt?

Witness for the State, Who Repudiated Testimony Against Leo Frank Recently, Falls From Passenger Train While Attempting to Swing Off at Roseland Station.

BRIBE OFFER ALLEGED IN AN AFFIDAVIT MADE
BY NEW FRANK WITNESS

Mrs. Mattie Miller Says A. S. Colyar Promised Her $1,000 if She Would Tell "Infamous Story"—Frame-Ups and Coercion Charged to Detectives in Other Affidavits.

Dangerously injured while swinging from an incoming Southern train at Roseland station in an attempt to enter the city under cover of darkness and assisted by detectives, Albert McKnight, the missing witness in the Frank case who recently repudiated his testimony, was found unconscious beside the railroad tracks last night by the engineer of train No. 22.

He was picked up and put in the baggage car, in which he was brought into the Terminal station at 8:15 o'clock, at which time train No. 22 is due to arrive. His body was badly cut and bruised and he is seriously internally injured. He was also cut and gashed in the head.

He was carried to Fairview hospital, where he is reported to be in a serious condition. A consultation reporter was refused admission to the ward because he had been put to sleep under an anesthetic. Two detectives visited the hospital a short while previously, however, but declare they did not interview him.

Detestives
They were detected by John Hollingsworth and J. T. Tugue. Police headquarters were tipped off to McKnight's appearance in the city shortly after he was released from the hospital. Tugue went at once to the hospital. They say that the only reason for the visit was to ascertain if the man was a missing witness. They say he is.

They communicated with Chief Lawford, asking if he should interview him. The chief, it is said, instructed Tugue to return to headquarters and not act further in the case. Chief Lawford declares that neither of the detectives acted with the negro.

According to detective officials, McKnight was bound for Atlanta on Southern train No. 16, due at the Terminal station at 7:30 o'clock. He had been missing from Atlanta, they say, over a week. McKnight was a fugitive some weeks ago. Last night, for some unexplained reason, he was returning to the city on No. 16. The point from which he was coming, the detectives say, was not known.

At Roseland station, a slowing-down of the train was made by the detecting trio, to swing from the moving train and was thrown to the ground.

Rain Coats.

IN rainy weather one should think "any old thing would do," but smart and serviceable costumes are fashioned for those who venture forth in such weather. The first is a long coat made of mulberry rubberized silk material cut in raglan style. With this coat is worn a small hat of taffeta of the same shade. The tan coat made on military lines is of cravenette. The black collar and cuffs are of velvet, as is the smart tam-o-shanter hat. The last costume is made of double-faced water-proofed cloaking, cut on the lines of the popular sport coat, though longer, and with the new fullness at the bottom. A chic green hemp hat completes this costume. The accessories, such as gloves, umbrellas and shoes are selected with as much care as the garments. The first are of washable duck skin and stout dug skin. The umbrellas match or harmonize with the costumes. The shoes, though cut on trim lines, are waterproof, made so by special process thus eliminating the necessity of wearing rubbers.

TWO ULTIMATUMS SENT BY UNEMPLOYED ARMY

Both Demand Food for Kelley's Men and a Special Train to Nevada Line.

Sacramento, Cal., March 14.—Two ultimatums from the army of unemployed men, camped on the Yolo side of the Sacramento river, were delivered today to the Sacramento citizens committee. Both demanded food for the army and the return of their journey eastward in units of fifty.

One ultimatum was from "General" Kelley's main army; the other from the opposition union faction. The latter was modest in its demands, asking for food for the army and a special train to the Nevada line and food for the journey.

Asked if he were not aware that Governor Odell of Nevada had asserted that the army would not be allowed to enter the state, the spokesman for "General" Kelley replied:

"Yes, but we will take care of that ourselves when the time comes."

Will Not Retire Steps. Under no circumstances, he said, would he men retrace their steps to Sacramento.

District Attorney Washburn, of Sacramento county, who has charge of the situation, expressed a willingness to let the men pass on eastward if Yolo county provided armed guards to accompany them.

The men of the Yolo county army, however, refused to accept the offer of the army.

Sacramento's Protestant clergymen arranged today to hold religious services tomorrow at the city hall.

Yolo county was asked to provide food for the army. The county board of supervisors, however, declined to do so.

Leaders of the "army" distributed leaflets and urged the men to continue their strike.

The letter contained a list of demands, including the return of the army from Sacramento and the declaration that proof of death of at least one of its members could be supplied.

1500 Idle Men in Sacramento. Portland, Ore., March 14.—Although Chief of Police John Clark planned yesterday to close the city hall, where 1500 idle men have lodged since the winter, it was decided to postpone the action until H. R. All the men will be driven out and forced to accept employment or leave the city.

Plan to plant the unemployed yesterday was the outgrowth of the refusal of most of the city to work in the hallways and on the streets.

Industrial workers, however, then refused to leave on the allegation that the railroad was "unfair."

NEW TRIAL MOTION FOR SAM STOE NOT HEARD BY NEWMAN

The motion for a new trial for Sam Stoe, convicted while still a member of the United States army, was not heard by Judge Newman yesterday.

Stoe, a member of the United States army, was convicted of desertion in 1908. He was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

Stoe's defense attorneys argued that Stoe was not a deserter, but a soldier who was ordered to leave the army.

The court, however, refused to grant the new trial motion. Stoe's sentence will remain in effect.

TWO BLOWS ARE STRUCK AT N. Y. COTTON EXCHANGE

One by House Rules Committee and the Other by Director Harris.

Washington, March 14.—(Special.)—Two blows were struck today at the New York cotton exchange by the House rules committee in its investigation into the operation of all cotton and grain exchanges.

The second was the announcement of William J. Harris, director of the census, that hereafter linters would not be counted in computing the size of the annual cotton crop.

The census committee wants a joint investigation of exchange gambling in agricultural products. It cannot be secured, the house will conduct its own investigation.

Several thousand pages of testimony have already been taken on exchange gambling. It is felt that new light may be shed on this complicated problem.

Investigation Made by Physicians of United States Public Health Service.

Washington, March 14.—(Special.)—Investigations have recently been made by physicians of the United States public health service to the existence of malarial fever in the states of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Reports received from Georgia show the following cases of malarial fever for the months indicated in 1913: August 4, 181; September 4, 468; October 2, 522.

Of the cases reported as chronic there were 261 in August, 239 in September and 270 in October.

Pulmon county reported in August, 219 white cases and 18 colored; and in October 1 white and 4 colored.

The relations between the existence of malarial fever and the existence of swamp lands in the state of Georgia is being emphasized to speed the work of reclamation.

ATLANTA TO HAVE MODERN METHOD OF BURIAL

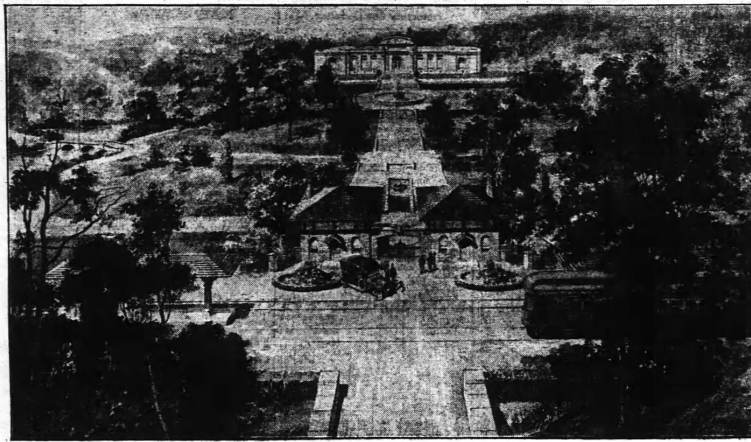

Leads Cities of South in Public Enterprise—Community Mausoleum in North View Cemetery—For Two Hundred Prominent Families

Modern Entombment

THE accompanying illustrations are taken from the plans of the new Community Mausoleum now being erected in North View Cemetery. The sanest "Christian Idea" of the Twentieth Century is the modernized revival of medieval entombment embodied in the Community Mausoleum or "mansion house of the dead." It is the American adaptation of the famous Campo Santa of Italy, combining the ideas of dignity and beauty with modern sanitary devices and monolithic features of more recent concrete construction. Those who have a horror of being placed in the earth after life departs; those who desire a permanent home for the bodies of their loved ones, and all who want to know of the most recent developments toward sanitary burial and insurance against desecration, will be interested in this page. The idea of above-ground entombment is not new. All nations, during their most advanced states of civilization, have erected tombs for the final resting places of their distinguished personages. For generations, even in our own country, we have evidences of the tendency to provide more suitable and permanent resting places for our noted men and their families. The Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and McKinley mausoleums were built by public subscription.

During the past decade, not only science, but public sentiment as well, has demanded the abolition of earth burial as a practice entirely out of keeping with modern thought and progress. Recently the inventive genius of man has devised a method of entombment to satisfy the demands of both sentiment and science. Modern construction and sanitation have made possible the erection of beautiful buildings for the dead, where every man can provide for himself and family that which heretofore only the few could have. A beautiful and permanent resting place where members of the family may lie, side by side, through the long sleep, not an arm's length apart, each in a little white room, perfectly dry, where neither mould nor decay can enter, protected and preserved for all time.

The buildings are owned by the subscribers in the same way that cemetery lots or family vaults have been owned heretofore. Each family receives a certificate

Entrance to Mausoleum Park—North View Cemetery—Chattahoochee Avenue and Interurban Railway.

NEW NORTH SIDE CEMETERY

It would be extremely difficult to select a site for the first Community Mausoleum in the South better suited for the purpose than North View Cemetery. Comparatively few citizens of Atlanta realize the extent of a development now in progress which is certain to result in one of the most complete and most beautiful cemeteries in the country.

During the past decade the methods of building and conducting cemeteries have changed. New and modern cemeteries in larger cities are more like attractive parks than dreaded graveyards. They are located in higher and more desirable property rather than in low and inaccessible sections. There prevail more restrictive rules and regulations that tend to more uniformity of ornamentation and decoration, with provisions for perpetual care and upkeep and the prevention of ultimate dilapidation and desecration. The steady growth of Atlanta, especially the continued extension of the city's finest residential sections toward the north and east, has made imperative the establishment of a strictly high-class cemetery to be in keeping with the city's enterprise and at the same time conveniently accessible from the residential sections.

The ideal location for such a cemetery has been found on the north side and for the past several months extensive operations have been in progress. The development of the property has been under the supervision of men who have taken the time and pains to become familiar with the up-to-date methods that are in vogue in other large cities. A visit to this scene of increasing activity convinces one of the unstinted outlay of energy and money in creating a natural beauty spot which will be a decided credit to Atlanta. The property comprises about 200 acres, consisting of a veritable nest of hills overlooking Atlanta and only 20 minutes from the center of the city. From any of these hills one can easily identify the city's skyscrapers and, on the other side, enjoy a view of the beautiful valley of the Chattahoochee River, with the distant mountains as an impressive background.

North View Easily Reached

The cemetery has two attractive entrances, one from Marietta Street, which is a newly paved drive from the center of the city to the river, and the other on Chattahoochee Avenue at the junction of this important thoroughfare and the Marietta Interurban Railway. The street car line running out Marietta Street beyond Human Yards is now within six blocks of the upper entrance to North View, but one can board the Interurban car at the Walton Street station and, in less than twenty minutes, get off at the main entrance to the grounds. Chattahoochee Avenue has already been graded and the county commissioners have authorized its cherting early this spring. The above illustration, which was made from the plans of the engineer and architect, conveys an excellent idea of what the main entrance will be when completed.

Through the center of the property, around the hills, is being constructed a wide boulevard connecting the two entrances. The hills and natural slopes supply that very desirable feature—perfect drainage—and at the same time, under scientific landscape engineering, yield a system of roadways throughout the property that are practically level and supply a constantly changing panorama of delightful scenic outlooks. Natural rustic hillsides, rocky crags, ravines and sunken gardens, surrounded by groves of heavy timber, and then beautiful stretches of greensward dotted with innumerable gardens of flowers and shrubbery.

And, that this may always be kept beautiful, the company has adopted the plan used by most modern cemeteries, the creation of an endowment fund for permanent investment so that the interest derived from it may be available to keep up the property forever.

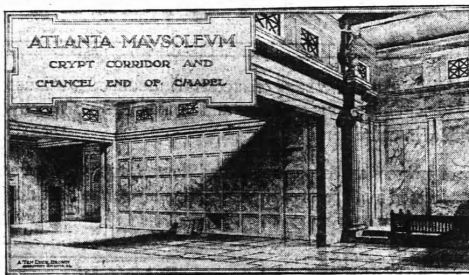

On the hills are the remains of an extensive line of fortifications, built during the war for the defense of Atlanta. These will be allowed to remain as points of attraction not only for the residents of the city, but for visitors and tourist inspection, because the completion of this extensive improvement marks the opening of, not only a cemetery, but a beautiful park which can be reached by a delightful drive out Peachtree to Brookwood, thence across to Howell Mill Road and Chattahoochee Avenue, through North View and returning on Marietta Street to the city.

Marble Palace for the Dead

COMMUNITY Mausoleums designed to contain many family and individual compartments, ranging in number from one hundred to one thousand, represent the latest development of the architectural art. It is an interesting fact—a surprising one to most persons—that the custom of burying the dead in graves dug in the ground is being departed from so generally that the construction of mausoleums in the United States has become one of the most important and rapidly growing industries.

How best to dispose of the dead is a question that has been long under consideration by thoughtful and earnest men and women. The practice of burying human bodies in the ground, and the knowledge of what becomes of them there, is undeniably responsible for much of the horror and dread of death. For centuries people have wondered, as they stood by the open grave, whether there might not be some other way of caring for the bodies of departed loved ones. To some, cremation offers a very sanitary disposition of the question, but it has seemed more properly to belong to a rude and unrefined period rather than to the advanced civilization of the twentieth century. It is not easy to bring one's self to the point of permitting, in one brief hour, the annihilation of the form of one long loved. And so it all remained an unsolved problem until 1907. In that year the United States government issued patents for a sanitary crypt and community mausoleum which affords protection to the health of the living, and a saner method of caring for the dead. So perfect is this system in a sanitary way, and so nearly does it satisfy the demands of grief-stricken love, that the sentiment in favor of mausoleum entombment has reached the proportions of a wave of reform. During the past five years nearly two hundred of these buildings have been constructed, the greatest number in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. Among the principal cities having Community Mausoleums are New York, Philadelphia, Syracuse, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Chicago, Springfield, Milwaukee, LaCrosse, Omaha, Des Moines, Portland, Tacoma, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The movement is now being introduced in the South and Atlanta will be the first Southern city to complete a building. The Georgia Mausoleum Co., 532 of ownership to the compartments subscribed for and the purchase price covers all charges, including permanent endowment for the perpetual care of the building. The cost is less than the unavoidable expenses incident to earth burial, when even a modest monument is erected, while the remains rest in a better and more secure tomb than has heretofore been obtained in the private vaults of the wealthy. The families already interested will require, it is estimated, about six hundred crypts, and plans and specifications for such a building have been prepared by Architect A. Ten Eyck Brown, of this city, who has given the work a great deal of professional study and investigation with a view to making the Atlanta building the finest structure of its kind in the country.

Most Beautiful in America

Experts in this business, to whom the plans have been submitted, universally agree that Atlanta will have by far the most beautiful, most completely equipped and most permanently constructed building of its kind in the country. That the mausoleum will be built according to these plans which have been submitted to the subscribers, and that the whole project will be carried out as represented, is guaranteed by the men who are behind the movement and whose reputation for ability and integrity is unquestioned. As pioneers in this field their work is humanitarian and should appeal to the public spirit and civic pride of thoughtful, earnest men and women.

This is an age of Progress. What was impossible yesterday is today a mere matter of fact. We all must be earnest enough, serious enough and honest enough with ourselves to admit that some day, somewhere, we must find a resting place. It is for you to decide today whether you will have the best there is to have—clean, dry, white room in this marble palace, or leave it to chance.

Beautiful Family Tomb—Exclusiveness and Privacy.

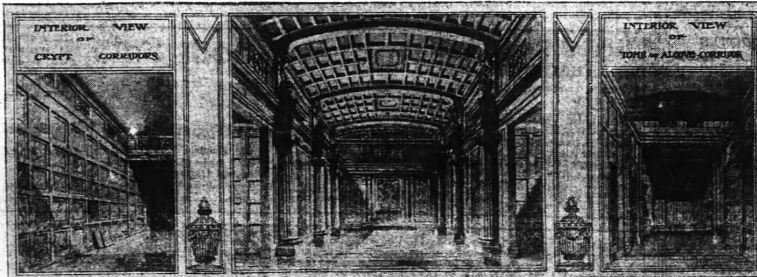

Candler Building, whose directorate includes prominent men in various sections of the state, is also engaged in the promotion and construction of these buildings in several other important towns of Georgia. The principal features of construction are similar for most buildings erected up to this time. Reinforced concrete is used entirely for the foundations and superstructure—the foundations, great floor and crypts proper make a monolithic mass of reinforced concrete which will last for all time. The crypts or compartments are separated by concrete walls, painted white inside, and each equipped with patented sanitary devices. The outside walls are of solid masonry, the most durable building stone being used.

Lights Eliminate All Gloom

The interior is faced with beautiful marble and the whole impression is one of reposeful beauty and purity.

All doors and window frames are bronze and add to the beauty of the building. The buildings are lighted with ornamental deck lights or skylights, the idea being to eliminate entirely all suggestion of depression and gloom, which has, heretofore, been associated with burial.

These buildings are usually sold out before they are built and then constructed to accommodate only those who have subscribed for space. It is one of those desirable possessions which, in order to have it when needed most, must be provided for when needed least. Construction work on this building is already well under way and reservations for space are being made by some of the most prominent families of Atlanta. Compartments are sold on subscription at prices easily within the reach of persons in moderate circumstances, payable on easy terms. These subscriptions carry ownership, free of taxes or assessments, and with full benefit of the endowment fund for the perpetual maintenance of the building.

DEADLOCK REMAINS ON IRISH HOME RULE

Ulsterites Scout Premier Asquith's Concessions—Sir Edward Carson Drilling Army—Civil War Feared.

LONDON, March 14.—A settlement of the Irish home rule difficulty apparently has not been advanced by the British government's recent concessions to the Ulsterites and taking the concessions of both political parties at their face value, the deadlock remains as unmovable as ever. Premier Asquith's conciliatory offer was made in the House of Commons on March 9. The terms of the offer were that the permanent exclusion of the Protestant counties of Ulster from the Irish government at Dublin, instead of the proposed temporary exclusion, would be considered by them.

The more radical Ulsterites demand not only the exclusion of the four counties—Antrim, Londonderry and Down—in which the Protestants are in the majority, but they want the entire province of Ulster excluded. Anything else, they would be the desertion of their comrades in counties where Protestants are in the minority and would be treason to the cause.

Threat by Carson. Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster unionists, sent a message to Belfast today, saying: "If anything necessitates a still more forward movement this year, we are going to make good in action all we have been saying and preparing for during the past two years."

On the other side, the government newspapers assert that Premier Asquith's scheme is the absolute limit of concessions and that a basis for further negotiations.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, speaking at Bradford, Yorkshire, said: "It seems to me that in principle, I don't speak of details, but it is the last offer of his majesty's government that can be made."

Thomas Dreier the Guest Of Massengale at Dinner

Jason Rogers, Publisher of New York Globe, Also a Welcome Guest at Banquet Saturday Night.

St. Elmo Massengale, well known Atlanta advertising expert, was host Saturday night to a distinguished company of advertising men at a Capital City club dinner, the guest of honor being Thomas Dreier, of Boston, Mass., editor of the internationally known magazine, "Associated Advertising."

An unexpected but royally welcomed guest was Jason Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe, who is here to address the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, which convenes in Atlanta on Monday.

Over a score of the best known advertising men of the city were seated down to a magnificently appointed dinner table in a private room at the club, and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

So soon as the dinner was served, Mr. Massengale, as toastmaster, introduced Mr. Rogers, who spoke for a few moments on the responsibility of the newspaper.

Mr. Rogers then spoke for a few moments on the responsibility of the newspaper. He said that the newspaper is a public institution and that it has a duty to perform.

Edwin P. Ansley Announces

First Development of the Year

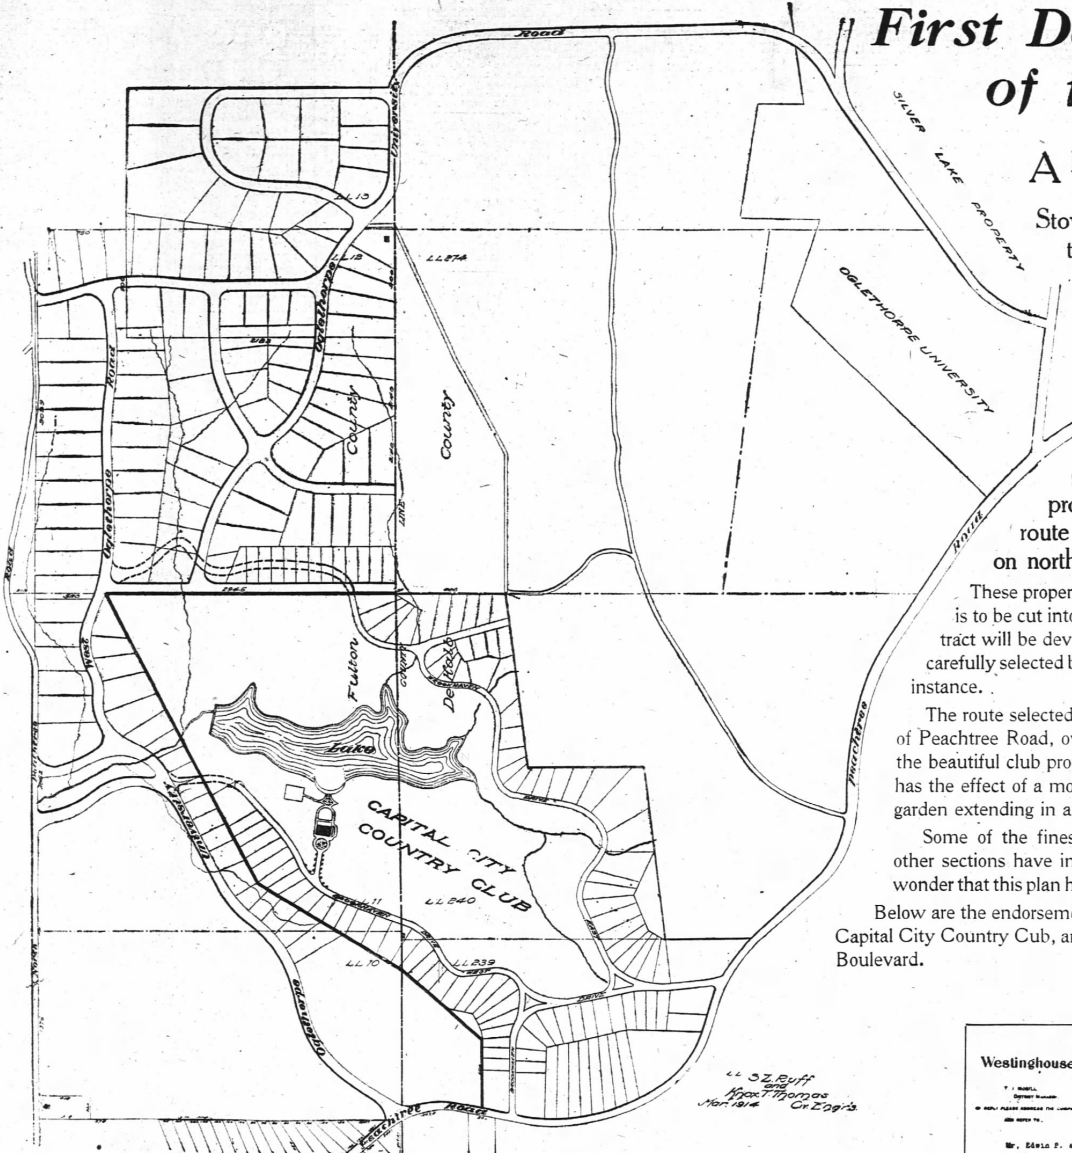

A BIG BOULEVARD extending through the S. C. Stovall property, past the Capital City Country Club and through the Hart estate, lying just north of the Brookhaven estates and the Country Club; thence into DeKalb County and through one land lot to Oglethorpe University grounds and Silver Lake properties; thence on a direct route to Chamblee and extending on north by way of Peachtree road.

These properties will make only a few tracts, as it is to be cut into lots of two to five acres each. Each tract will be developed upon its own merits, and a carefully selected building site will be provided in each instance.

The route selected follows a ridge higher than any part of Peachtree Road, overlooking the entire country. With the beautiful club property and lake in the foreground, it has the effect of a mountain plateau, with a great formal garden extending in all directions.

Some of the finest landscape engineers of this and other sections have inspected this property, and express wonder that this plan has not been discovered sooner.

Below are the endorsements of some of the officials of the Capital City Country Club, and also a plat showing the proposed Boulevard.

THE AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ATLANTA

ATLANTA, GA. MARCH 15, 1914

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
Atlanta, Ga.

I have seen the preliminary plan for connecting the properties owned by the Capital City Country Club and the Oglethorpe University and the Silver Lake properties by the development of the above plat, and I believe that this plan will make these valuable properties closely together and, when carried out, will be of much benefit to all the properties involved and one of the most important improvements since the purchase of the Fulton and western part of DeKalb County for many years.

I should think the merits of this proposition would fully warrant the Official Commissioners of Fulton and DeKalb in co-operating liberally with you and your associates in opening up this property, which is sure to make a large increase in the taxable returns from this section and its rapid development.

As you know, I have no personal interest whatever in any of this property, except my interest, as President, in the future welfare of the Capital City Country Club. Therefore, your activity and success in developing property in this and other sections of the country, is a confidence in your judgment, and believe that if your present plans are carried out, your expectations in the success of this enterprise will be fully realized, and a second Ansley Park is destined to be developed in this beautiful section of Fulton and DeKalb Counties.

Very truly,
Wm. H. H. H. H.

IN ORDER to meet the demand of the public for suburban home sites, ranging in size from one to five acres, I have formed a syndicate, and had plans prepared, as shown by the above plat of S. Z. Ruff and Knox T. Thomas, engineers, for a subdivision of this kind, lying between the Capital City Country Club property and the site of Oglethorpe University and the Silver Lake Estates, and have planned to connect these two properties by a boulevard sixty-six feet wide, which is shown on this plat as Oglethorpe University Road. It is planned that this road shall be built as a double roadway, with a private right of way twenty feet wide between the roadways, to be used for any extension of the car line, either to the Club or to the University. I believe that it is desirable for every interurban car line to have a private right of way, and therefore I have provided such right of way in the driveway marked "Oglethorpe University Road," which will make a splendid route to the University and the Silver Lake Estates, which will be practically no longer than to use Peachtree Road. I believe it will be more desirable to reach these properties with a car line over this route, and leave Peachtree Road as an automobile route only.

It is proposed for the property owners to bring this driveway to a proper grade, at their own expense, and I think DeKalb and Fulton Counties should cooperate in paying it in view of the wonderful advance in taxable values that will accrue in this section, by reason of the development of this property, which is now known as back property or farm lands.

To show the effect of this class of development, I will state that the City and County derived a revenue of $50,000.00 in taxes from the Ansley Park development alone, in 1913, whereas, nine years ago, this property was a tangled mass of underbrush, and paid taxes of less than $1,000.00 to Fulton County at that time.

I am advised that it is very desirable to widen the Golf Links on the north side of the lake, in order to give more width to the greens, and I have, therefore, planned to move the proposed roadway, extending along the northern side of the club's property, some distance back, approximately as shown by the dotted lines on the above plat, so as to allow the lines to be extended into my property.

CANDLER BUILDING,

ATLANTA, GA.

MARCH 15, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

The plan you have outlined for connecting the property adjoining the Capital City Country Club with that adjoining the site set aside for Oglethorpe University with a splendid drive way, in which you make provision for a private right-of-way for the car line, is one of the broadest developments ever taken around Atlanta.

I did not know until I saw your plan that only one land lot separated the properties of Brookhaven Estates from that of the Silver Lake Estates, nor that a drive could be built on the north side of the Capital City Country Club property to connect with the University site, that would be a hundred feet longer than the Peachtree Road.

The fact that you are willing to change your plan, so that your proposed driveway around the Club property will form an attractive Boulevard system around the Golf Links, and are willing to locate your drive on the north of the links, fifty or more feet from the Club property, and allow the Club the use of this space that is very necessary to make this part of the drive as wide as they should be, is another evidence of your generosity in dealing with your neighbors. It seems to me, that your neighbors, and the public, have profited more than you have, in all of your developments; but it is that broadness of vision that has made your developments successful.

I believe the Club and the University will co-operate with you to the fullest extent in carrying out your development plan, and I hope that all adjoining property owners will do the same.

Wishing you success in all your plans, I am,

Very truly, Yrs.

Home of the Redfern

At the opera, at the dance, wherever style is paramount, the wearer of a REDFERN CORSET is always distinguished by her poise and elegance of figure.

Parisian ideas adapted to American fashions are expressed in the beautiful new styles. The perfect designing creates a flattering, almost boneless corset—a few light bones giving the actual support necessary to every woman, for not one in ten thousand can really have a "figure" without a corset.

Whatever the design, the weave, or the price of the corset, it is finished with exquisite laces that tone with the corset fabric—that is a milky-white lace on a milky-white fabric; and the combining of laces and ribbons shows that the deft fingers of artists have tied the bows and applied them.

FRANK F. SMITH FOR City Tax Collector

To the Citizens of Atlanta:

For the purpose of letting it be generally and positively known that I am a candidate for CITY TAX COLLECTOR, this announcement is made.

While the primary will not likely occur before fall, I am desirous that my many friends know that I am in the race to the end.

I have lived in Atlanta practically all my life, and during this time have held responsible positions with several daily newspapers of this city.

I am thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office of City Tax Collector, and understand that the general public is entitled to courteous treatment, prompt attention and efficient service.

I will have associated with me a corps of capable, competent and efficient assistants, and this, together with my complete knowledge of the office, the people will be guaranteed the most efficient service and careful attention that they are rightfully entitled to.

I feel deeply grateful for the generous support already assured me, and shall ever be mindful and appreciative of their assistance.

Smart Suits for Spring

1 HE figure at the upper left of this fashion page wears a charming and stylish suit that can be made for a reasonable sum of money. The suit, if fashioned in a brocade crepe. This suit is fifty-four inches wide. The suit requires about four and one-half yards at four dollars a yard, two yards of figured crepe de chine, for lining, at one dollar and a half a yard, and one-eighth of a yard of silk broadcloth, at four dollars a yard, for the collar.

The odd shaped hat worn with this costume is of black tulle, a large sashette placed on the side balances the brim, which is turned on the right side.

The suit on figure number two is one well adapted for the young girl. If made at home of English corded sponge, it can be duplicated for about fourteen dollars. This material is forty-two inches wide, and sells for two dollars a yard. The suit requires five yards of the sponge. Crepe de chine at a dollar and a half a yard, thirty-six inches wide, will make a splendid lining. Two yards of this suit will line the suit. The collar is made of white crepe de chine at two dollars a yard, requiring but an eighth of a yard.

The charming little hat worn with this suit is of white straw, the crown is covered with yellow roses. It is turned up at the back, a yellow rose, holding the black velvet ribbon in place at each side; the ribbon forms a chin strap.

The parasol is a shaded affair, with a puffed blouse of white satin.

Figure three wears a most up-to-date suit, one which will be most correct for Spring wear. This suit made at home can be had for sixteen dollars, if fashioned of English brocade pique at two dollars a yard; it will take but four and a half yards, as it is fifty-two inches wide. Two yards of brocade lining at two dollars a yard and one-half a yard of silk broadcloth at four dollars a yard will be needed for the collar and vest. The revers and collar of the coat require of a yard of white pique at two dollars a yard.

The hat is one of the small shapes, high on one side, trimmed with a black sashette and a band of black satin ribbon is used around the crown, tied in a small tailored bow at the side. The parasol is a very attractive one, made of white tulle, in bands alternating with bands of black and pompadour ribbons.

Figure four. The hat on this figure is made of yellow straw, with a pleated top of tulle. This hat extends high on one side, with a spray of roses adding more height, and holding ribbon in place.

The suit can be duplicated for about twenty-six dollars. It requires five yards of forty-inch pure silk broadcloth at four dollars a yard, two yards of brocade lining at two dollars a yard, one-half yard of crepe de chine at one dollar a yard, for the tie and collar, one-eighth of a yard of crepe de chine at two dollars a yard for the outer collar, and with the small findings it will amount to the cost mentioned.

Figure five. The hat worn by this figure is of green straw with black satin wings placed on the raised side. The suit can be made for about twelve dollars. Four yards of forty-six-inch French honeycomb rillane at one dollar and a half a yard, two yards of black crepe de chine lining at one dollar and a half a yard, one-half yard of broad silk at three dollars a yard for the vest, one-quarter of a yard of silk broadcloth at four dollars a yard for the collar, will be the materials required.

News Wise and Otherwise Of Boys Who Put 'Em Over

Unrelenting vigilance is the price of a good tire. Workmen who make a discrimination must be employed and the manufacturer who skimps a casing of real quality must maintain an expensive system of inspection throughout his factory.

From the time the gum is put through the first of three processes which will build it into the casing, it must be closely scrutinized to see that it is of the right quality. Whether should the fabric which enters into the tire carcass be accepted on trust and it is not by the first that makes a product the price of which is of secondary consideration.

Following is a description of the inspection system maintained by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company to safeguard the reputation of its product.

Each lot of fabric when it is received is inspected over electric lights, while every square inch of the cloth is watched for flaws of any kind. If that inspection is passed, a piece from each roll must submit to a pulling test. The degree of resistance to the breaking of the fabric is determined by the breaking machine, which is a rubber roller, watched just as closely as the fabric in the pulling machine. It is in the pulling machine that the rubber is stretched to its limit and it is in the pulling machine that the rubber is stretched to its limit and it is in the pulling machine that the rubber is stretched to its limit.

There is not a single chance for things to go wrong in the manufacturing of the solid tire. Actually they are in the hands of the manufacturer, and it is in the hands of the manufacturer that the rubber is stretched to its limit and it is in the hands of the manufacturer that the rubber is stretched to its limit.

After one operation has been completed the next cannot be begun until the first has been built up. It is inspected for weight and size, passed, it is cured and then again subjected to an exhaustive test which is passed on to the next stage of production.

The completed casings pass under as close a scrutiny and if pronounced all right are practically certain to be free of flaws.

In the central west the routes of the rural mail carriers often run from between 25 to 35 miles. In this service several "vee" cars are now making exceptional records, and one of them is in southern Iowa, carrying mail over a route of 25 miles long with 11 stops in an average running time of 1 hour and 25 minutes.

LESS LEGISLATION, MORE INSTRUCTION, BACON ADVOCATES

The recent agitation of laws requiring non-skills to be used on motor vehicles strikes me as wholly unnecessary," says H. M. Bacon, manager of the Diamond Tire Sales of the B. F. Goodrich company, Akron, Ohio.

In the first place the tendency to burden motorists with irksome laws is being overworked by too many zealous individuals today. What the automobile industry needs most is more instruction and less legislation.

It is a fact that in Europe there are laws compelling certain types of cars to be used on the highways, and that these laws should be passed in this country.

Although the dangers of skidding are being overworked by too many zealous individuals today, what the automobile industry needs most is more instruction and less legislation.

Although the dangers of skidding are being overworked by too many zealous individuals today, what the automobile industry needs most is more instruction and less legislation.

It is a fact that in Europe there are laws compelling certain types of cars to be used on the highways, and that these laws should be passed in this country.

STUDEBAKER PUTS ON THOROUGH CAR TEST

In New Factory Each Chassis Is Given Complete Block Test.

Motorists have often marveled over the fact that when two automobiles of the same model, both fresh from the factory, have been compared in performance, one was almost always superior in power and in general ability.

Structurally these cars may have been exact duplicates as nearly as duplication can be secured by automatic machinery. Their parts would tally to the thousandths of an inch. Their weights would vary by a few ounces only. The old comparison, "As alike as two peas," would have been correct for such an application. Yet one car was better than the other.

Quite often this discrepancy, it has been noticed, disappeared after the cars had been for some time in use. Sometimes, however, it has remained in evidence.

This condition is due to the difference in adjustment in the explanation which engineers have always given to this singular phenomenon. It has been merely one more case of the human equation. Cars can be built by machinery, but they must still be adjusted by hand.

Until recently this adjustment has been one of the duties of the road tester who, from his seat at the wheel, passed judgment on each car. If the tester was a good guesser, perfect adjustment was the result. But the process at the best was still guesswork.

This condition was tackled in a new way several months ago by the Studebaker corporation, which has a new factory building, with apparatus by which each complete chassis is given a thorough and complete block test before it is handed over to the road tester for final approval.

This complete except for body and paint, these cars are tested by a new test, large brake equipped with speedometer, pressure dial and other electrical system and runs under its own power. The skilled workmen test not only the power and flexibility of the engine, but also go over in detail every adjustment of gear and bearing. The definite nature of the result attained, and the unusual facility for the detection of noise and vibration make this method of adjustment absolutely accurate, for each one must pass a certain definite record before passing along for road test and completion.

Thirty chassis are handled simultaneously in this test which supplements prior block tests of motors and rear axles. So closely does the apparatus imitate actual conditions of use that hill climbing and muddy road work can be given at will during its progress.

This declaration was made today by a friend so close to General Villa as to give authority to the assertion. It was prompted by reports that the coming to Chihuahua of General Carranza, who appears to have in hand the situation, was to bring about conditions which would place in the seat of authority better advisers than General Villa. Carranza, however, is not so easily deceived.

Eczema Is Only Skin Deep

A few skin troubles originate in the blood. But very few. Dr. E. W. Atkinson, Commissioner of Health and a famous writer on medical subjects, says:

"We shall begin to make headway with skin diseases when we learn two things: first, that skin diseases do not come from impure blood; second, that so-called blood purifiers have no such action."

Jobs Have Been Promised to Employees.

New York, March 14.—The Fourteenth street store and that of the Simpson-Crawford company, proprietors of the S. S. Kresge and Vogel, who are under indictment in connection with the failure of the Siegel-Privat company, closed their doors tonight by order of the federal court in response to a petition by receivers and creditors. The closing of the store affected other department stores and by charity workers and employment agencies, and thousands of persons were out of work. Most of them have been promised jobs Monday, however, and the others, it is expected, will find places elsewhere.

Aisles crowded with patrons seeking last-hour bargains, the arrest of a few of the store's employees and the organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World, the reported presence of agents in the vicinity of employment bureaus offering girls work, and the hysterical shrieking of women who had lost their savings in the Siegel bank were incidents that attended the closing of the case.

Indexed lists of reputable employment agencies and respectable boarding houses were distributed to the girls and girl employees by social workers. The girls were told that if they were agents were mingling with the discharged workers.

Extensive speechmaking by J. W. W. workers. Handbills bearing the name of the case were distributed, inviting the clerks to a meeting Monday morning. Several hundred handbills were given out at addresses to the departing employees. The girls were told that if they got no opportunity to earn it, they could come to the office, which in the Siegel bank called on attorneys.

It was also pointed out that the girls were informed that the partners had not prepared a will, and that the money, as the deposit, was to be lost to the girls.

In view of the present trial the case has been closed. The girls are to make any appeal, said Louis S. Levy, of counsel.
